The Seal of P.J. Kenedy & Sons
The Official Catholic Directory

SIGNIFICANCE:

The shield is the central part of a heraldic device, which is more commonly known as a coat of arms. If that shield is enclosed within a body of text, or other type of surrounding configuration, the device becomes know as a seal, yet it is the shield portion of the design that is the most important, and that which is described technically as the blazon. As the design is examined, it must be remembered that by heraldic tradition the design is described (blazoned) as if being done by the bearer with the shield being worn on the arm. Therefore, the terms dexter and sinister will be reversed as the design is viewed from the front.

The shield of the seal for The Official Catholic Directory has been designed to reflect the character and heritage of this publication of P.J. Kenedy & Sons.

The shield is in two major portions. The right half (sinister impalement) is composed of the blue field on which are seen a silver tree, two candles (in silver or white) in their candleholders (of gold or yellow) and an open book, edged in gold and with a red bookmark. These symbols have been used over the years as the sign of the P.J. Kenedy and Sons publishing organization. These are the traditional symbols of knowledge and learning, so appropriate to a publisher.

The other side of the shield (the dexter impalement) is composed of a silver (white) field on which is seen a red cross, throughout, and a gold eagle. These symbols, combined with the field of the sinister impalement, are represented in the color of the flag of the United States of America and the eagle, the symbol of the United States. The cross represents Christianity and all of this combines to signify that The Official Catholic Directory annually reports on the Catholic Church in the United States.

The shield is surrounded by a laurel wreath of excellence and is enclosed within the legend that states the name of the company, the name of the publication and date (1817) of its founding.

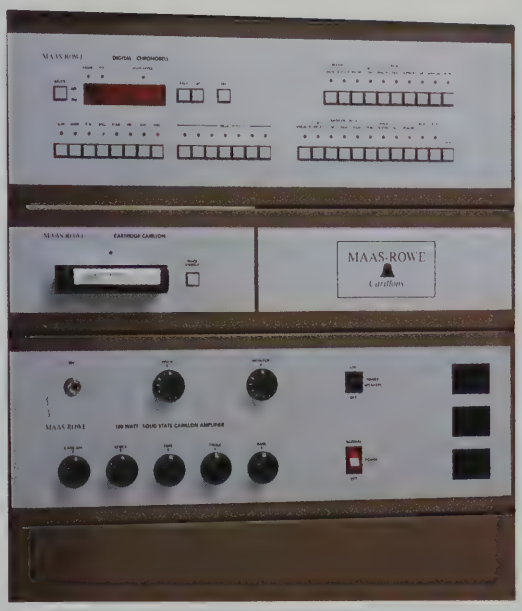
Church Bells



Music for Memories

Maas-Rowe is dedicated to bringing you the finest bells, bell systems, and bell sounds to inspire your worshipers with beautiful hymns, chimes, and peals.

Musical Handbells

Increasing in popularity, Maas-Rowe casts, tunes, polishes and assembles their handbells in the U.S.A. The handbells are backed by a lifetime warranty of quality. A pleasure to hear and play.

Amplified Bell Systems

The Maas-Rowe Digital Chronobell® provides the sound of traditional struck metal bells at a fraction of the cost. Weatherproof loudspeakers project the sound, and a microprocessor clock accesses hymns, carols, chimes and peals. The bells can be scheduled to ring automatically or started manually from the console or by remote control.

Theology of Giving

TEACHING THE NEED TO GIVE

The "Theology of Giving" Program gives parishioners the opportunity to select one of the many ways of giving. The program concentrates on the need of the giver to give rather than giving to a need. It combines elements of Tithing, Sacrificial Giving and Stewardship of Time, Talent and Treasure.

It is a simple, inexpensive program based on the Readings of the Day and on the three-year Liturgical Cycle. No visits and no meetings are involved. The main ingredient is faith.

REVELATIONS BEGIN WITH INSPIRATION. A FRESH APPROACH. A NEW PERSPECTIVE.

THEY FEED ON KNOWLEDGE. AN UNDERSTANDING OF THE CULTURE, THE HISTORY, THE NEEDS OF YOUR PARISH. COUPLED, OF COURSE, WITH THE LITURGICAL GUIDELINES ESTABLISHED BY THE VATICAN COUNCIL.

THEN COMES THE DRAMATIC UNVEILING. A BLOCK OF WOOD. A PIECE OF STONE. AN EMPTY CANVAS. A HOUSE OF WORSHIP TRANSFORMED INTO A CELEBRATION OF TODAY'S FAITH.

AT RUDOLPH N. ROHN STUDIOS, WE BELIEVE IN REVELATIONS. AND THE SPIRITUAL IMPACT THEY CAN HAVE ON YOUR COMMUNITY. FOR MORE INFORMATION, PLEASE GIVE US A CALL. AND LET US OPEN YOUR EYES TO NEW OPPORTUNITIES.

Artistic Mosaics in a new Dimension
and Stained Glass in its Perfection

Since 1845, we the studios of Franz Mayer and F. X. Zettler in Munich, Germany have made quality the main object of our work. Stained glass windows, altars and mosaics in more than 40 cathedrals in the United States and Canada, and thousands of churches around the world – including St. Peter's Church in Rome and the World Peace Church in Hiroshima – are proof of our dedication to quality. The results of the new and contemporary German stained glass and mosaic art have been outstanding. And our new US-Studio for Artistic Mosaics in Fairfield, NJ has started a new era in the art of mosaic in America.

CELEBRATING 175 YEARS OF SERVICE . . .

The Official Catholic Directory

... since 1817, the only authorized publication covering the personnel, institutions and establishments of the U.S. Catholic Church.

This is the authoritative volume that has reflected the administrative, pastoral and theological work of the Church in the United States for 175 years.

No other reference offers more accurate, more detailed information covering over 60,000 clergy and laity in every U.S. Catholic institution, its possessions and the Governing Body of Rome. Also included are useful summaries of the Church in Canada and Mexico.

Since the early 19th century, The Official Catholic Directory has charted the changes in the Catholic Church in America. And as America grew, the Directory grew with it . . . from just 68 pages in the 1817 edition to over 1,750 updated and verified pages in the 1992 volume.

A timely reference for a timeless institution, The Official Catholic Directory offers an important look at the Church of today . . . and is committed to offering the same service in the decades to come. P.J. Kenedy & Sons is honored to mark its 175 years of service to the Catholic Church in America.

To obtain your own copy of The Official Catholic Directory and Supplement call or write today.

Rambusch was called upon to redesign/renovate this austere 1949 chapel, making it suitable for Post-Vatican II liturgy. Maintaining its character, they began by rearranging the seating from auditorium style to antiphonal...with the altar in center and celebrant's chair and ambo at opposite ends. Two important new cherry wood reredos screens were added, and new furnishings were designed and crafted: altar, celebrant's chair, ambo, candlesticks, bronze tabernacle, sanctuary lamp, and 4 new stained glass windows. Original wall sconces were replicated and added to a new, flexible lighting system. The harmonious result reflects Rambusch's unique 93 year history of being able to integrate form, function and faith.

Editorial

In years past, each new edition of The Official Catholic Directory began with a letter from the editor under the heading "Editorial." Typically, the letter was a summary of events affecting the Church in the United States and therefore, the Directory, during the previous year. Often the topics were simple housekeeping matters relating to editorial deadlines or statistical recapitulation procedural changes. For example, the 1912 edition commented upon the acquisition of the directory by P.J. Kenedy & Sons and the relocation of all operations from Milwaukee, WI, to New York, NY. Upon other occasions, the commentary concerned more globally socio-political issues as in the case of the 1954 editorial that included a prayer for the "fall of the anti-God philosophy of life known as Communism."

Gradually the Editorials were discontinued and replaced by an extensive mailing of a press release to all religious media. Because of the significance of 1992 for the Directory and for the Church, the editorial staff has elected to reinstate these commentaries.

1992 is significant for several reasons. Most importantly, it is the Quincentenary of Evangelization in The Americas, an occasion marked by prayer, education and celebration throughout the Western Hemisphere. It also marks the 175th anniversary of The Official Catholic Directory, a milestone which the editorial staff is extremely proud, honored and thankful to commemorate. And 1992 marks our first full-year as part of the prestigious publishing family of Reed Reference Publishing.

Of practical interest this year is the Directory's March publication date, instituted so that the United States Catholic Conference can obtain the annual "Group Ruling" from the Internal Revenue Service on a more timely basis. This accelerated publication date required earlier deadlines for the return of questionnaires and statistical compilations. I would like to thank all of the Archdioceses, Dioceses, the United States Catholic Conference and other organizations for your marvelous cooperation in meeting the deadlines, without which this publication date shift would not have been possible.

Focusing upon the 1992 edition, significant changes to this Anniversary Edition of the Directory include the following:

- An expanded Glossary of Terms
- The addition of 15 bleed tabs denoting important sections of the Directory.
- The Hierarchy of the Catholic Church in the United States—the list of the Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops, and Abbots has been moved forward to Part II and now follows the National Catholic Conference of Bishops.
- The "Mission Churches in the United States" no longer follows the "Religious Institutes of Women." The Mission Church Section can now be found after the "United States Conference of Secular Institutes."
- Finally, we have split the Religious Institute Indexes so that the Institutes of Men Index precedes the Religious Institutes of Men. The same holds true for Religious Institutes of Women.

It is our intent that these changes make the information in the 1992 edition more easily accessed.

With this edition, we are also introducing a new official seal, designed by Paul J. Sullivan, a well-known heraldic artist. We have incorporated the seal on our 175th Anniversary Edition in order to make it an especially handsome volume to own. You will find this seal and an explanation of its significance located at the front of the Directory, .

As always, we welcome your comments about any aspect of The Official Catholic Directory, and again, a special thanks to all who contributed to the editorial compilation and production.

Reprinted on the following page is the "Editorial" from the edition published in 1912, the first year of publication by P.J. Kenedy & Sons, which details the early history of The Official Catholic Directory.

"Reprint of 1912 Editorial Letter"

The 1912 volume of "The Official Catholic Directory" makes its appearance somewhat late but the delay was occasioned by scores of obstacles beyond the control of the publishers.

During the year 1911 this Directory, which for twenty-six years had been published in Milwaukee, Wis., was acquired by P.J. Kenedy & Sons and the entire plant, including editorial records, subscription books and files, the composing room with all its type and paraphernalia, was moved to New York.

Although the present volume is No. 27 of the series started in Milwaukee, the history of the United States Catholic Directories, or Almanacs, as they were formerly called, does not date from 1886. Far from it. The first Catholic Directory, or Catholic Laity's Directory, was published by M. Field of New York in 1817. An "Ordo" was published in Baltimore by J. Hayes in 1801, and while some authorities claim that this "Ordo" of 1801 was the beginning, the consensus of opinion is that Field's Directory of 1817 was the first Catholic Directory of this country.

The next Laity's Directory appeared in 1822, published by W. H. Creagh in New York. For some years no Directories appeared, and the regular annual publication did not begin until 1833 when James Myres of Baltimore brought out his first "United States Catholic Almanac." Thereafter the volume appeared annually, for some years in Baltimore and later in New York; but during two years of the Civil War, namely 1862 and 1863, the Almanacs failed to appear. In 1862 a publication appeared giving statistics only for the State of Pennsylvania.

In 1864 D. & J. Sadlier & Co. of Barclay Street, New York, resumed the publication under the name of "Sadlier's Catholic Almanac and Ordo," and continued the publication until 1896. In 1886 Hoffmann Bros. of Milwaukee, Wis., began the publication of an annual, " The Catholic Directory and Clergy List Quarterly," and for ten years both publications appeared, but as had been the case earlier in the history of Catholic Directories, it was found that one "year book" was sufficient for the needs of the country. Sadliers gave up the publication of their Directory and the Hoffmann venture passed into the hands of Messrs. M.H. Wiltzius & Co., by whom the Directory was published from 1897 to 1911, when "The Official Catholic Directory" was acquired by P.J. Kenedy & Sons, one of the oldest Catholic Publishing Houses in the country, whose operations extend back to 1826 when Mr. John Kenedy opened a Catholic book store and began his publishing career in The Arcade, Baltimore, Md.

The 1912 Directory, from cover to cover, has been gone over most carefully, and as the reports were received from the authorities of the various Archdioceses and Dioceses, the matter appearing in the Directory is official.

Improvements have been made in the gathering of statistics from Catholic schools and institutions, a specially prepared blank containing eleven questions having been sent to every institution, and after the questions were answered, forwarded to the Chancery Office of the Diocese in question.

A report was secured for the Canal Zone; the dates of the ordination to the Priesthood of Archbishops and Bishops were added and the statistics for British Honduras and Jamaica were placed in the United States section of the Directory as the Fathers in these Vicariates are subjects of the United States.

The most striking change, however, was made in Part IV of the Complete Edition—namely, the transfer of the positions of the Archdioceses and Dioceses of Ireland. Scores of requests to have the reports for Ireland precede those of England were received by the new publisher and, aside from the individual requests of prelates and priests, a formal petition was addressed to the Messrs. Kenedy. This petition was signed by not only priests of Irish birth or parentage, but also by clergymen of other nationalities. After mature deliberation the new publishers adopted the plan.

In several instances the Catholic population figures have not been changed, but this is accounted for by the fact that a census of Catholics is not taken each year. In a few of the largest Dioceses of the country, a census is taken only every five years.

Special attention ought to be called to the latest likeness of His Excellency, Most Rev. John Bonzano, D.D., the new Apostolic Delegate to the United States, which appears in the present issue. By having made special arrangements with several Prelates and Priests in the Holy City, a photograph of His Excellency was rushed to New York immediately after the consecration of The Most Reverend Archbishop. Likenesses of Their Eminences, the new American Cardinals, as well as pictures of the newly appointed and deceased Archbishops and Bishops of this country, will also be found at the end of the United States Clergy List.

The publishers wish to take this occasion to thank the Most Reverend Archbishops and Right Reverend Bishops, without whose support and good will no Directory would be possible. Special thanks are due, also, the Right Reverend and Reverend Chancellors and the Reverend Secretaries who make up the statistics for the various Dioceses.

It is imperative, too, that a word be said in behalf of the advertisers in the 1912 volume of "The Official Catholic Directory." Only the most responsible and representative firms were admitted to the advertising pages, and the Reverend Clergy and Religious will make no mistake in patronizing these advertisers. All Catholic publishers encounter many difficulties in securing advertisements, and the Catholic Clergy, as well as Communities of Sisters, can aid Catholic publications—one and all—by telling the firms which they patronize when and where they saw the advertisement of the firm in question. No Catholic publications, whether weekly, monthly or annual, carry as much advertising as do the secular publications, and it is often said that advertising in Catholic publications does not pay. The proof to the contrary is in the hands of the Reverend Clergy and Religious, and if advertisers are told when and where the announcements were seen, every Catholic publication in the land would increase its advertising revenue.

With this plea the 1912 "Official Catholic Directory" makes its appearance.

A User's Guide
FOR THE OFFICIAL CATHOLIC DIRECTORY

Each year the editors of the Official Catholic Directory seek added ways of serving their subscribers. Although the book may never answer every question, this is the conscientious goal; its format, arrangement and editorial features are directed toward the convenience and needs of the public. Nor does this policy stop with the editorial content. The advertisers are accepted with the user of the Directory in mind. It is policy that advertisers are selected rather than solicited. Each advertiser is screened for business integrity and for the usefulness of the products and/or service offered to the potential customer.

GENERAL PLAN

For the benefit of the subscriber and a more efficient use of the Official Catholic Directory and its cross references, a summary of the contents and their meaning follows:

1. Alphabetical Place List
   The cities, towns, and villages where there is a church with a resident priest, or a Catholic institution, or both, together with the abbreviations of the archdiocese or diocese to which it belongs. A key to these abbreviations precedes the alphabetical list of places.

2. Ecclesiastical forms of address recognized in the United States.
   Formal forms of address for correspondence with the clergy in the United States.

3. Official Catholic Directory Glossary
   A listing of some of the ecclesiastical terms and organizations found in the Directory.

4. The Governing Bodies in Vatican City
   A chronological table of the Supreme Roman Pontiffs; the Pope, and an alphabetical list of the College of Cardinals; the duties of each of the agencies of the Roman Curia, and other commissions and institutions associated with the Holy See, along with their officers; a list of the Seminaries and National Colleges in Rome; the Apostolic Nunciature and the Permanent Observer Mission to the United Nations, with their staffs.

5. Map of Catholic diocesan and province boundaries in the United States
   Map defining the diocesan, archdiocesan, provincial, and state boundaries.

6. The Catholic Church in the United States (Provinces)
   All the archdioceses and dioceses of the United States arranged under the provinces to which they belong, listed with their active archbishops and bishops.

7. U.S. Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops, Archabbots and Abbots
   An alphabetical list of Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops, Archabbots, and Abbots, arranged within their specific title. Also listed is their address and status, followed by a seniority/chronological list by year.

8. National Conference of Catholic Bishops [NCCB]
   The national body of bishops, with headquarters in Washington, D.C. A listing of the NCCB offices and committees, with their officers.

9. United States Catholic Conference [USCC]
   The coordinating body of the American Catholic bishops, with their committees and officers. Also included are the National Organizations approved by the USCC, and a brief description of their function, and the National Association of State Catholic Conference Directors.

10. Dioceses and Archdioceses in alphabetical sequence
The most detailed information on the Catholic Church, including Eastern-rite churches, personal prelatures, and Apostolates to the Hungarians and Lithuanians, in the United States. Listings are in alphabetical order according to the name of the diocese/archdiocese and include the diocesan curia and administrative offices; a parish-by-parish listing of clergy, churches, missions, and parochial schools; information on institutions and the religious institutes of men and women located in the diocese/archdiocese; and a statistical profile of the diocese/archdiocese.

11. United States Territorial Sees
This section contains information on U.S. territories similar to that found in the preceding section.

12. The Catholic Church in Canada and Mexico
A brief sketch of the provinces, archdioceses, dioceses, and administrative organizations in Canada and Mexico.

13. American Foreign Missions
This section highlights the Religious working specifically in foreign countries. Each Province lists their U.S. members and the countries they serve in. For specific addresses, the mission office listed should be contacted.

14. U.S. Catholic Mission Association
An alphabetical list of countries served by the U.S. Catholic Mission Association, detailing the number and religious order or laity personnel working there.

15. Missionary Activities
Organizations involved in missionary work in the U.S. and foreign countries.

16. United States Conference of Secular Institutes
An alphabetical list of secular organizations and their purpose.

17. Religious Institutes of Men and Women
An alphabetical list of religious institutes of men and of women, using a P.J. Kenedy identification number. Each listing contains the General Headquarters, Provinces, Provincialates, a summary of legal titles and holdings taken from the text of the Directory, various forms of ministry and works, statistical data of personnel, and representation in the U.S. dioceses and archdioceses.

18. Mission Churches
A list, by city, of mission churches in the U.S. and the parishes to which they are attached.

19. Diocesan and Religious Priests
An alphabetical list of diocesan and religious priests denoting their year of ordination, the diocese they are assigned to or work in, and the church or institution to which they are affiliated.

20. Necrology of U.S. Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops, Archabbots, Abbots, and Priests
An alphabetical list of the U.S. hierarchy and priests who have died since the last issue of the Directory, along with their date of death and last assignment.

21. The General Summary
A 40+ page general summary arranged alphabetically by state, listing the dioceses and archdioceses in each state. This recapitulation of statistics extracted from each diocese/archdiocese pertains to personnel, parishes, health and welfare, education, and specific sacramental figures, as well as Catholic and total population figures for each diocese/archdiocese. U.S. territories and Eastern-rite statistics are also included.

22. The Official Catholic Directory Supplement
A mid-year supplement is published to update the information contained in the Directory. Updated changes include newly ordained priests, new appointments, personnel and institutional changes. More information on the Supplement, including how to order a copy, can be obtained from the publisher.

SPECIAL NOTATIONS USED IN THE DIRECTORY

An asterisk (✻) denotes a tax-exempt organization that has its own IRS exemption number and is not covered by the USCC Group Ruling. The group ruling allows for the exemption from federal income tax of all Catholic institutions listed in the Official Catholic Directory for that year. The exemption was established in 1946 and has been extended every year since then.

[CEM] in a parish listing indicates a cemetery that is connected to the parish. [JC] indicates a cemetery that is utilized by more than one parish.

A dagger (†) next to a name in the necrology denotes a deceased priest. A Maltese cross (✠) denotes a deceased member of the hierarchy.

Official Catholic Directory Glossary

Abbot
The superior of an autonomous community of men religious. He has general and sacramental jurisdiction over his community. The head of a prominent monastery or a congregation consisting of several monasteries is an archabbot.

Advocate
An ecclesiastical advocate is someone approved by Church authority to safeguard the rights of a party in a canonical process by arguments regarding the law and the facts of the case. [Cf. c. 1481 and CLSA Comm., p. 967]

Apostolate
Apostolate is the mission of Christ and participation in it. Its object is to bring Christ to others, its goal is the greater glory of God, its scope is universal. The work is carried out by every human agency by which the life of grace may be given or increased in the soul. A mandate from the Church is essential to the Catholic apostolate.

Archbishop
A bishop of a main, or metropolitan diocese in an ecclesiastical province. The term is equivalent to metropolitan in the Western Church. It may also be granted to other ordinaries and non-residential bishops, and to the ordinary of a diocese outside a province.

Auditor
An official of a diocesan court, who gathers evidence and testimony and draws up a record of an ecclesiastical case.

Bishop
A bishop, by divine institution, carries on the work of the apostles. By reason of episcopal consecration, they share in the triple apostolic function of teacher of doctrine, priest of sacred worship, and minister of church government. Bishops are responsible for the pastoral care of their dioceses. In addition, bishops have a responsibility to act in council to guide the Church. The term exarch is used in Eastern-rite churches.

The bishop to whom a particular or local church is entrusted is called a diocesan bishop or a residential bishop. All other bishops receive titular sees over which they exercise no pastoral authority.
When the pastoral needs of a diocese or archdiocese warrant, an auxiliary bishop may be assigned to aid the residential bishop in governing his diocese. An auxiliary bishop is assigned when the residential bishop needs assistance in carrying out his duties because of health, age, or amount of work. An auxiliary bishop does not have the right of succession within his diocese.

In special circumstances, such as age or ill health on the part of the diocesan bishop, a coadjutator bishop may be appointed to assist the principal bishop of a diocese. Coadjutator bishops have the right of succession in the diocese of their appointment from the time the see becomes vacant upon the death or retirement of its bishop.

Brother
A man who is a member of a religious order, but is not ordained or studying for the priesthood.

Cana Conference
A Catholic family movement, originally designed to aid married couples and families in their spiritual and interpersonal relationships. The program is now divided into Pre-Cana, for couples engaged to be married, and Cana Conferences, programs for married people.

Censor Librorum
A theologian empowered by a bishop to judge a book's soundness in regard to Church teaching before publication.

Chancellor
The office of the chancellor (or the chancery) evolved from the practice in the early Church of appointing an official to sign and preserve the letters of the bishop. The first function of the chancellor in the present day is gathering, arranging, and safeguarding the acts of the diocesan curia. Dispensations and other official documents also originate from the chancery. In many dioceses, the chancellor continues to exercise ordinary jurisdiction as delegated by the diocesan bishop. He may be assisted by a separate official, the vice-chancellor.

Chapter
The general chapter of a religious order is an assembly of elected or appointed members and provincials. General chapters are convened for the election of officers, amendments to the constitution, and discussion and legislation of matters of concern to members and the order as a whole.

A provincial chapter conducts elections and handles legislation on a provincial level. The assembly is comprised of superiors and representatives of the religious.

A chapter of canons is a group of diocesan priests, appointed by the bishop of a diocese, with assigned authority or responisbilities.

College of Cardinals
The College of Cardinals is made up of the cardinals of the Church, who advise the Pope, assist in the central administration of the Church, head the various curial offices and congregations, administer the Holy See during a vacancy, and elect a new Pope. There are three ranks in the College of Cardinals, corresponding to the historical origins of cardinals in the Roman Catholic Church. All cardinals are bishops, but their rank within the College of Cardinals is characterized by one of the hierarchical ranks of bishop, priest, or deacon. Cardinals are given honorary title to churches in the city of Rome. [CF. c. 350; CLSA Comm., pp. 288-289]

1. Cardinal Bishops
There are two types of Cardinal Bishops: 1) those appointed by the Pope as titular bishops to one of the six suburban dioceses of Rome, and 2) Eastern-rite Patriarchs who are heads of sees with apostolic origins that have been assigned to the College of Cardinals.

2. Cardinal Priests
Heads of see outside the city of Rome are assigned a "titular church," one of the churches in Rome. They have no pastoral authority over their titular church.

3. Cardinal Deacons
Cardinals of diaconal rank are bishops without sees who head the various departments, offices, congregations committees, and the Secretariat of State of the Roman Curia.

The term is currently used to describe Catholic parish-based religious education of children from kindergarten through high school. At the diocesan level, the offices are now more commonly known as offices of religious education or Christian formation. Nationally, the confraternity's religious education component has been taken over by the USCC's Department of Education. It still exists as a separate entity under the USCC Administrative board, with responsibility for licensing religious and spiritual literature.

Consolidated School
The term, as used in the Directory, may refer to a school that takes students from more than one parish, or a school that was formed by the consolidation of two or three other schools. In both cases, it is a means of keeping a Catholic school in a given area open by taking students from the surrounding areas, regardless of parish boundaries.

The program, conducted by priests and laypeople, consists of a three-day weekend focused on prayer, study, and Christian action, and a follow-up program known as the post-cursillo.

Deacons
The diaconate is the first order or grade in ordained ministry. Its origins are in early apostolic times, when deacons preached and baptized under the direction of the presbyters or bishops. Any man who is to be ordained to the priesthood must first be ordained as a transitional deacon. Deacons serve in the ministry of liturgy, of the word, and of charity.

In 1967, Pope Paul VI re-instituted the Permanent Diaconate for men who do not plan to become ordained priests. Although men ordained as permanent deacons are sometime referred to as "married deacons," the permanent diaconate is open to both married and unmarried men, with the understanding that after ordination, they may not marry even after the death of a spouse. Under the authority of the diocesan bishop, they perform the same functions as the transitional deacons while, at the same time, retaining their roles in society as family and business men.

The standard term for a territorial division of the Church, entrusted to a bishop who rules in his own name as local ordinary, and not as a delegate of another. The chief diocese of a province is an archdiocese. It is headed by an archbishop. A prelature is presided over by a personal prelate, who is an ordinary with the right to establish seminaries and ordain priests as members of the prelature.

During the Middle Ages, the clergy were educated in a university setting where faculties of philosophy, theology, and canon law existed. Eventually individual dioceses or provinces came to establish their own schools for educating their clerical students. Traditional seminaries date from the Council of Trent in the sixteenth century.

A school for the spiritual, academic, and pastoral education and formation of priesthood candidates is known as a major seminary in which the focus is on philosophical and theological education. In ecclesiastical matters, definite procedural norms for conducting a trial are found in the Code of Canon Law to settle disputes. There are various grades of tribunals, including diocesan tribunals, the first court of trial for most cases; regional and metropolitan tribunals, located in an archdiocese, the appellate court for all cases tried within the province; and the tribunals of the Holy See, which act as the Church's central appellate court, try cases reserved to the Holy See, deal with questions of the procedures and jurisdiction of the other courts, and act as the Church's supreme court.

The appointment of a priest or a bishop as an episcopal vicar is an option given to a diocesan bishop when the bishop needs a deputy for governing a specific territory within the diocese, a group of persons or a specific rite, or a type of apostolic work within the diocese.

By Church law, the diocesan bishop is the judge of all cases in the diocesan tribunal of first trial. He must appoint a priest with ordinary power to judge cases not reserved to the bishop himself. This priest must have a graduate degree in canon law. He is called the judicial vicar, and is sometimes referred to as the chief judge or "officialis." He may be given another priest as an assistant with the title of adjutant judicial vicar.

PART I

Hierarchy of the Catholic Church

The Hierarchy, as the supreme governing body of the Catholic Church, consists of the Roman Pontiff, the successor of Peter, and the Bishops joined together with him in one apostolic college to provide for the common good of the Church. The Cardinals, now always bishops, serve as the chief counsellors of the Roman Pontiff. The Pope is further assisted by the departments also called "dicasteries" of the Roman Curia. The bishops, of whom some bear the titles of Patriarch and Archbishop, are united with the Roman Pontiff in the governance of the whole Church; the bishops, when assigned to particular Sees, are individually responsible for the teaching, sanctification and governance of their particular Church. Apostolic Vicars and Prefects together with certain Abbots and other Prelates are also joined in this work.

HIS HOLINESS THE POPE

BISHOP OF ROME AND VICAR OF JESUS CHRIST,
SUCCESSOR OF ST. PETER, PRINCE OF THE APOSTLES,
SUPREME PONTIFF OF THE UNIVERSAL CHURCH.
PATRIARCH OF THE WEST, PRIMATE OF ITALY.
ARCHBISHOP AND METROPOLITAN OF THE ROMAN PROVINCE, SOVEREIGN OF VATICAN CITY.

JOHN PAUL II

KAROL WOJTYLA

The direct successor of St. Peter was born in Wadowice, Diocese of Krakow, May 18, 1920; ordained Priest, November 1, 1946; appointed Titular Bishop of Ombi July 4, 1958; Promoted to Archbishop of Krakow, January 13, 1964; Proclaimed and created Cardinal June 26, 1967. Elected Pope, October 16, 1978; installed October 22, 1978.

VATICAN CITY

By virtue of the Lateran Pact signed on February 11, 1929, and ratified on June 7, 1929, the complete and independent authority of the Pope to rule in his own possessions was recognized by the state. The territorial possessions of the Holy Father are called Vatican City and within its limits the Sovereign Pontiff's authority is recognized as supreme.

The Sovereign of this small state is His Holiness, the pope.

The government presently is administered by a Pontifical Commission of which His Eminence Jose Cardinal Castillo Lara is President.

THE COLLEGE OF CARDINALS

The Cardinals, when duly constituted and proclaimed, form the Supreme Council or Senate of the Church. They are advisers of the Supreme Pontiff, and at the death of the Pontiff those under eighty years of age elect his successor.

There are three orders of Cardinals, Cardinal-Bishops, Cardinal-Priests, and Cardinal-Deacons; but these orders are distinct from those of the Hierarchy. With two exceptions, the present Cardinal Priests and Deacons are Archbishops or Bishops. The Sacred College of Cardinals, when complete formerly consisted of 70 members—6 Cardinal Bishops, 50 Cardinal Priests and 14 Cardinal Deacons (Cf. Canon 231Sec.1), but the late Pontiffs, Pope John XXIII and Pope Paul VI named a number in excess of this total. Only 120 Cardinals, all under 80 years of age, can participate in a conclave to elect a new pontiff.

The Cardinal Bishops (except the Patriarch-Cardinals of the Oriental Rites), have as Titular Sees the Suburban Sees of Rome, which are: Porto Santa Rufina, Albano, Palestrina, Sabina, Frascati, Velletri, Segni. The Cardinal Dean has united to his See the See of Ostia. The Cardinal Priests take their title from the "Titular Churches" to which they are appointed: the Cardinal Deacons are appointed to other Churches called "Deaconries." The first Cardinal Bishop is Dean; the first Cardinal Priest is First Priest; and the first Cardinal Deacon is First Deacon of the Sacred College. The Dean has the right of ordaining the new Pope if he is not already a bishop; the First Deacon the right of proclaiming him and investing him with the sacred Pallium. On the death of the Pontiff, the Cardinal Camerlengo has the Administration of the affairs of the Holy See.

The "creation" of a Cardinal sometimes precedes, even by several years, the "publication and proclamation." The Cardinal is then said to be "reserved in pectore," and when proclaimed, he takes the precedence according to date of creation.

CATHOLIC DIOCESAN AND PROVINCE BOUNDARIES
IN THE UNITED STATES

Regions of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops

The Official Catholic Directory
P.J. Kenedy & Sons 1992

PART II
The Catholic Church in the United States

The organizational structure of the Catholic Church in the United States consists of 33 Provinces with as many Archdioceses (Metropolitan Sees); 148 Suffragan Sees (Dioceses); The Military Archdiocese; four Eastern-Rite jurisdictions immediately subject to the Holy See in Rome. The Eparchies of St. Maron (Maronites), Newton (Melkites), St. Thomas the Apostle of Detroit (Chaldeans) and St. George Martyr of Canton, Ohio (Romanians). Each of these jurisdictions is under the direction of an Archbishop and Bishop called an Ordinary, who has apostolic responsibility and authority for the pastoral service of the people in his care.

The structure includes the territorial espiscopal conference known as the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. In and through this body, which is strictly ecclesiastical and has defined juridical authority, the Bishops exercise their collegiate pastorate over the Church in the entire country.

Related to the NCCB is the United States Catholic Conference, a civil corporation and operational secretariat through which the Bishops, in cooperation with other members of the Church, act on a wider-than-ecclesiastical scale for the good of the Church and society in the United States.

The following is a list of the thirteen regions in the United States and provinces within those regions.

Its purpose is to foster the Church's mission to mankind by providing the Bishops of this country with an opportunity to exchange views and insights of prudence and experience and to exercise in a joint manner their pastoral office. The NCCB is the successor to the Annual Meeting of the Bishops of the United States, approved in the brief "Communes" issued by Pope Benedict XV, April 10, 1919 and in a special letter of Pius XI issued on August 10, 1927. The present NCCB statutes with some slight amendment are those originally approved by the Sacred Consistorial Congregation in a decree issued on June 22, 1922.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is composed of every Bishop, residential or titutlar, who serves the Church in the United States, its territories or possessions. Each Bishop has an active and passive voice in the Conference. Under certain conditions, enunciated in conciliar legislation, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops can initiate actions that are juridically binding on all the bishops of the country.

The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is presided over by a president who is elected by the general membership. Other officers of the organization are a vice president, secretary, treasurer and general secretary. The organization functions through forty-four different bishops' committees. The National Conference of Catholic Bishops is a distinct entity from the United States Catholic Conference. Its relationship to the USCC is that of a sponsoring organization.
